Shareholder

Jeff advises companies in all stages of development, through formation, angel/venture capital financings, securities offerings, strategic partnerships, and mergers and acquisitions. Jeff also works with investors and investment funds on fund formation/operation, regulatory compliance, and investments. He has a particular interest in emerging companies in growth sectors and frequently advises them on financing, structuring, and securities matters.

Jeff chairs the Innovative Enterprise Program – an initiative through which we allow select emerging companies with significant growth potential to defer limited fees until a debt or equity financing or similar event.

Jeff currently has one of the largest emerging company practices in the state of Maine.
