Associate

Prior to joining Eaton Peabody, Patrick worked as a Term Law Clerk for the Hon. John A. Woodcock, Jr., United States District Court, District of Maine. He graduated magna cum laude from the University of Maine School of Law in 2015, where he was the President of the Environmental Law Society, an Articles Editor for the Ocean and Coastal Law Journal, and was awarded the Faculty Significant Achievement Award and the Outstanding Scholastic Achievement Award in Environmental Law. While in law school he interned for the DeepCwind Consortium and the Conservation Law Foundation, and was a Legal Fellow with the Charles A. Harvey, Jr. Trial Practice Immersion Fellowship.

Patrick earned his Master of Science in Ecology and Environmental Science at the University of Maine and a Bachelor of Arts in Anthropology from Bowdoin College.

Patrick is a native of South Portland and graduated from South Portland High School. His wife, Kourtney Collum, is a professor at the College of the Atlantic in Bar Harbor where she holds the Partridge Chair in Food and Sustainable Agriculture Systems. They live in Ellsworth with their dog, Ophelia, and their cat, Baxter. Patrick's hobbies include, but are not limited to, hiking, hunting, fishing, disc golf, home brewing, spending time at his family's camp, and reading science fiction novels.
